INDIAN SCHOOLS.

Lieutenant Governor Dewdney has secured a grant of $44,000 which is to be expended in erecting schools for the Indian children of the North West. Sir Hector Langevin expects to secure the attendance of thirty children at the opening of each of these schools. Two are to be located at Qu'Appelle and one at Battleford, the one at Battleford being Protestant, the others Catholic. The sum of $3,600 is set aside as the amount of yearly salary to be paid in each school and a further sum of $2,000 has been granted each for boarding and other expenses. What may be the exact nature of the system to be introduced has not been satisfactorily explained, but it must be the intention of the Government to commence huge boarding schools for the education of the embryo red man. If so the people will naturally object to paying for the support of denominational schools. That the present system of Indian schools has been a failure is owing more to the manner in which it has been carried out than to the system itself. The treaties made with the various tribes bind the Government to establish schools for the education of Indian children on the various reserves. In the absence of all specific conditions as to the qualifications of the teachers to be employed, it is generally understood that the Government will employ competent men to manage these schools, but as they offer a salary of about three hundred dollars per annum the clause has been practically a dead letter, except in such reserves as have received the benefit of assistance from one or other of the various missionary societies which have undertaken such work. No compulsion has been used to induce attendance, and the consequence has been that even in the few schools which have been established, the efforts of the teachers have met with little or no encouragement. The sum of money which has been applied to Mr. Dewdney's schools would have gone very far to perfect the various schools on the different reserves and would not have left the Lieut. Governor open to the suspicion of having some more personal object in view than that of the education of Indian youth. It would also have been beneficial to a much larger number of the Indians than the present system can ever be expected to reach. The children could have been taught some occupation during their course and would have been as well fitted to fight their way through life as the average youth in any part of the Dominion. But the education of "my Indians," as our egotistical Governor calls them, is just now receiving an amount of attention at the hands of Mr. Dewdney which makes the Reform press afraid that an ex-governor might not think it was beneath his dignity to wield the birch over the children of the mighty Chief Piapot especially if the situation had an attachment of $5,000 per annum connected with it.

THE LAND SALE.

The excitement in Manitoba over the great land sale is intense. The press, independent of political connection, condemn the sale in no measured terms and many expect that bloodshed will be the result of any attempt to drive the settlers from their homes. The sale itself was an utter failure, netting very little more than enough to pay expenses. An inspector was sent by the Government to examine the lands and report upon the improvements made and length of time of settlement that each settler had completed, and this inspector is charged with favoring those settlers who were friendly to the Government and rejecting the claims of those who were otherwise disposed. Two men at Wolsely are cited as a case in point. One of these having resided on his claim for a short time and made a small amount of improvements then left it, the other has resided almost continuously on his and made considerable improvements. At the time of the inspector's visit both of these men were absent, the former at work in the lumber woods, the other being in Ontario bringing out stock and implements for his farm, yet the former is to be allowed a homestead entry; the latter has been forced to lose his farm. Three classes of settlers are being made to suffer grievous wrong by the Government. The first being those who settled on the lands previous to their withdrawal from homestead entry, some of whom are being deprived of their homes. There are also some who settled in advance of the C. P. R. construction on lands not contained in the "mile limit" as the railway was located at that time, subsequently, however, and as late as June or July, the line was altered and many of these settlers are now to be deprived of their homes because they are within the mile limit of the railway as now located. There are still others who were in Southern Manitoba at the time the order was issued and who consequently knew nothing of it, but who nevertheless located on lands in good faith and immediately commenced their settlement duties, these too have in many cases been sacrificed to the god of filthy lucre by a government who already have an overflowing treasury. Altogether the transaction is only one more of those acts which have disgraced the management of our North West lands and reflects no credit either upon the Government, the inspector or the land-grabbers. Many of the settlers had not sufficient warning of the intended sale and when full accounts come to hand it is expected that many will have been in entire ignorance of the sale until some time after their homes and improvements had been sold. Another sale is shortly to be held, when we may expect just such another outburst of popular feeling. In some parts the settlers threaten bloodshed rather than ejection, and should it come to this, the Dominion Government will be powerless to enforce the law, as neither Mounted Police nor Canadian volunteers will be willing to engage in the work of driving Canadians from their rights. A man in order that the land grabber may have "quiet possession" of it. The dilatoriness of the Macenzie Government did much to prevent the rapid advancement that would otherwise have taken place in this country, but the present laws and the manner in which they are administered are an actual hindrance thrown in its way and have done incalculable harm to the country and ruined many of the settlers. Settlers' Leagues are formed in several of the disaffected districts and those in the districts outside of Southern Manitoba and the mile limit would do well to take time by the forelock and endeavor to remedy the evils which already exist as well as prevent the introduction of the iniquitous land, or more properly speaking "rights of ejection," sales to which our fellow settlers to the south of this have been subjected.

THE WINNIPEG SMALLPOX HOSPITAL.

A most deplorable and disgraceful state of affairs seems to exist in this institution. A reporter of the Times made a personal investigation some time ago and brought to light some horrible revelations. The woman was thrown to a bed and the bed set fire to and she burned to death. A man had nothing to eat for three days and died of starvation. Patients had their feet chained to the bed every night so that the caretaker and nurse could sleep. Two men escaped to the prairie in the night and died and were buried in unknown graves to save exposure. It is said that a man was assaulted by the caretaker while delirious and died soon after. The city editor of the Times swore out an information against the caretaker and had him arrested. He is being tried on a charge of manslaughter of the female patient who was burned to death. The evidence which has been taken so far will do much to criminate the caretaker. The case has in the meantime been adjourned to secure the attendance of important witnesses now working on the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Queen is reported to be in a critical state.

The coronation of the Czar passed off without any disturbance.

It is now pretty generally understood in well-informed political circles in the Old Country that the Marquis of Lansdowne will succeed Lord Lorne as Governor General of Canada. The Marquis is an Irish peer and has occupied prominent positions under Mr. Gladstone, having been under-Secretary of War from 1872 till 1874 and was also appointed under-Secretary of State for India, when the Liberals attained to power in 1880. He is 38 years of age.

The women's medical college in Baltimore has just elected its faculty. Singularly enough every member of the dozen professors chosen is of the male persuasion. This bears out what has been said more than once, that male professors are preferred to those of the other sex. Women appear to have more confidence in the ability of men to teach than in that of women. The fact is interesting in connection with the discussion which has been going on over the proposed medical college for women.

MAKE HOME HAPPY.

How to Manage the Children, and Make them Love their Home.

It is a very possible amusement to keep your boys happy at home, evenings. Never mind if they do scatter books and pictures, coats, hats and boots: Never mind if they do make a noise around you, with their whistling and hurrahing! We would stand against it if we could have a vision of the young man gone to utter destruction for the very reason that, having cold, disagreeable, dull, stiff fire side at home, they sought amusement elsewhere. The influence of a loving mother or sister is invaluable. Like the circle formed by casting a stone into the water, it goes on and on through a man's whole life. Circumstances and worldly pleasures may weaken the remembrance for a time, but each touch upon the chord of memory will awaken the old music, and her face, her voice and her loving words will come up before him like a revelation. The time will come, before you think when you will give the world to have your house turned by the dear hands of those very boys; when your heart shall long for the noisy steps in the hall, and their rude cheeks laid up to yours; when you would rather have their jolly whistle than the music of Thomas or the songs of Nilsson; when you would gladly dirty carpets, aye, live without carpets at all, but to have their bright, strong forms beside you once more. Then play with and pet them. Praise Johnny's drawing, Betty's music and baby's first attempt at writing his name. Encourage Tom to chop off his stick of wood, and Dick to persevere in making his hen coop. If one shows a talent for figures, tell him he is your famous mathematician; and if another loves geography, tell him he will be sure to make a good traveller or a foreign minister. Tie with them to see their young rabbits and chickens and pigeons—and down to the creek fall to see the fish in their full operation. Have them gather your mosses and grasses and bright autumn leaves, to decorate their room when the snow is over all the earth. And you will keep yourself young and fresh by entering into their joys.

Home life is the sure test of character. Let a husband be cross and surly, and the wife grows cold and unsamiable. The children grow up saucy and savage as young lions. The father becomes callous, perishes, hard, a kind of two-legged beetle with clothes on. The wife bristles in self defence. They develop an unnatural growth and sharpness of teeth, and the house is haunted by ugliness and domestic brawls. This is not what the family circle should be. If one must be ruled to any, let it be to some one he does not love—not to his wife, brother, or parent. Let one of the loved ones be taken away, and memory recalls a thousand sayings to regret death quickens recollection painfully. The grave cannot hide the white faces of those who sleep. The coffin and green ground are cruel magnets. They draw us farther than we would go. They force us to remember. A man never sees so far into life as when he looks over a wife's or mother's grave. His eyes get wondrous clear, then, and he sees as never before what it is to love and be loved; what it is to injure the feelings of the loved. It is a pitiable picture of human weakness when those we love are treated worst.

Advice to a Boy.

Get away from the crowd a little while every day, my boy. Stand one side and let the world run by while you get acquainted with yourself, and see what kind of a fellow you are. Ask yourself his questions about yourself; find out all you can about yourself. Ascertain from original sources if you are really the number of a man people say you are, find out if you are always honest; if you always tell the square perfect truth in business deals; if your life is as good and upright at 11 o'clock at night as it is at noon; if you are as sound a temperance man on fishing expeditions as you are at a Sunday school picnic if you are as good a boy when you go to Chicago as you are at home; if, in short, you are really the sort of young man your father hopes you are, your mother says you are, and your sweetheart believes you are. Get on intimate terms with yourself, my boy, and believe me, every time you come out from one of those private interviews you will be a stronger, better, purer man. Don't forget this, Telegraph, and it will do you good.

A moving spectacle. A load of furniture. Nature's infernal machine. The chamberlain. A stylish, ignorant man is generally piqued.

The housekeeper who moves from square to square has a shagreened counter before him. Ed Claid has discovered a gold mine on his reservation. He is one of the few clouds which have a golden lining.

ONLY A BOY.

Written by Mr. Macmillan, of the Toronto Evening Telegram.

The following lines were suggested by the terrible death of a boy by the ore on the Esplanade, Toronto.

Only a boy with hopeful heart
Who lightly, gaily drew his breath,
Crushed and killed on the Esplanade;
Treaded and cut by the wheels of death,
Only a boy with threadbare clothes,
Only some poor man's lost loved one!
But though the child so weak had been,
And though his name was known to none,
Yet some one loved him.

Only a boy with starting eyes,
With heart which now no longer beats,
They pick him up and wipe away
His brain and blood from off the wheels.
They wash the foam from off his lips,
They cover up the ugly stain.
They never ask whose heart will break,
Because he never comes home again.
For some one loved him.

Only a boy! What matters it
That railways crash and mangle such?
For corporations have no souls—
With them it doesn't matter much.
They wash the rails of bloody stains,
And then the engines onward go;
They care not for the father's grief,
The mother's tears the sister's woe.
Though they had loved him.

His dying mother wonders why
The son she loved is never there.
The sister dare not tell, and oh!
Her grief is more than she can bear.
The corpse is lying still and cold,
So still and cold in roomy room,
And by its side the father sits
And hides his tears within the gloom.
For he had loved him.

Only a boy, yet loved so well,
With honest eyes and gentle touch,
What care the railway men for him?
But, ah! at home he's missed so much.
Perchance his dog will still be
Impatient by the little gate,
And watch the street and wonder why
His well-loved master comes so late.
The dog had loved him.

The ailing mother soon will go
To join the boy she loved in death,
But still the words, "Where is my son?"
Will linger on her dying breath.
She'll say, "My boy may yet come home,
Then tell him that before I die,
I blessed him from my bed and prayed
He'd be his sister's hope and pride."
His mother loved him.

Only a boy with hopeful heart,
Who lightly, gaily drew his breath,
Crushed and killed on the Esplanade—
Ground and cut by the wheels of death,
Only a boy with threadbare clothes,
Sent home to find all unavailing,
They wipe the blood from off the wheels,
And none asks, and none cares,
Who may have loved him.

COMMUNICATION

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY SPORTS.
To the Editor of The Times.]

SIR,—I noticed an article in your valuable paper of June 13th, on the non-fulfilment of "Observer," asking for a statement in regard to the disposal of the funds raised for sports on 24th of May. In reply I beg to state that a supposed member of the committee published a notice in the preceding issue of your paper notifying the last year's and also this year's committee of sports to meet at your office to give a statement of the manner in which the money was disposed of and forgot to sign his name to same. If this would be public benefactor would condescend to illuminate your columns with his autograph, as it is believed that his communication is not entirely original, we only expect his signature, and then a meeting will be held. In conclusion, I may say for the benefit of those interested that Mr. H. Keenan, who was treasurer of this and last year's sports committee, is able to account for the disposal of all funds collected.

ONE OF THE WORKING COMMITTEE.

Mr. Edward Flood, who conducted a private banking business here during the past winter, has returned to Lindsay, Ont., according to a local paper, the Canadian Post, which says of him:—"Mr. Edward Flood, for some years editor of the Warder, and recently manager of a private bank at Prince Albert, N.W.T., returned to town last Friday. Prince Albert must be the healthiest part in the North West, and astounding in consequence, judging from Mr. Flood's appearance. He spent the winter there, and has not a word about the cold there, but being as cold as the cold here. Prince Albert is looking out for a railway, work shops, etc., and will have an M.P. some of those days. We nominate Mr. Flood for the position, or for a lieutenant-governorship." The residents of Prince Albert, we feel sure, regret that Mr. Flood could not see his way clear to remain amongst us, but we express the hope that he may be induced to return as soon as better facilities for transacting business are obtained.

UNIVERSITY OF SASKATCHEWAN.

Before going to England, His Lordship the Bishop of Saskatchewan, had a position drawn up and signed by himself and certain clergy and body of his diocese, proving the Dominion Parliament to establish the University of Saskatchewan. While the Bishop was in England a copy of the bill was forwarded to him during its passage through the House of Commons. It is headed "An Act to Incorporate the University of Saskatchewan, and to further the establishment of colleges within the limits of the Diocese of Saskatchewan." The bill recites that the Bishop and others were desirous of establishing within the limits of the Diocese of Saskatchewan, as now constituted, a university and colleges in connection therewith, in order thereby to promote higher scholastic training and instruction. The bill then establishes the University and incorporates it within the limits of the present diocese of Saskatchewan. It empowers it to purchase and hold lands, and gives it all the usual privileges of a corporation. It gives it the power to confer degrees in all the faculties, in accordance with the statutes to be made by the University itself. It provides that it shall be governed by a chancellor, vice-chancellor and senate. The Bishop of Saskatchewan is to be ex officio chancellor. It provides for the formation of a senate, and gives it large and comprehensive powers. It further provides for the establishment of colleges, with professors, tutors and other officers, and that every such college, when so constituted and established by the authority of the senate, shall thenceforth become and be a corporation. Both the University and the colleges, in their corporate capacity, have power to acquire and hold lands, tenements, goods and chattels, and to invest their funds from time to time within the Dominion of Canada. The Bishop has been notified that the bill was passed, copies of which have been forwarded to His Lordship here. This is a matter of great importance to the educational interests of the country. The Diocese of Saskatchewan is a vast one, so that the operation of the bill extends over a very wide territory. At present Emmanuel College is the only college in the diocese. It has been in operation three years, and has done a good work, and the Bishop, on his recent visit to England, has taken steps to secure its endowment. He contemplates, as soon as other responsibilities will permit, the establishment of at least one other college in another part of the diocese, so as fully to meet the spirit of the bill.

An Unprejudiced Juror.

There had been some difficulty experienced in obtaining a jury, and the court was getting tired of the tedious proceedings.

"Call the next juror, Mr. Clerk," said the solicitor, for the hundredth time. The Clerk called out the man, and an old man with an honest face and a suit of blue jeans clothes rose up in his place, and the solicitor asked the following customary questions:

"Have you, from having seen the crime committed, or having heard any of the evidence delivered under oath, formed or expressed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the prisoner at the bar?"

"No, sir."

"Is there any bias or prejudice resting on your mind for or against the prisoner at the bar?"

"None, sir."

"Is your mind perfectly impartial between the State and the accused?"

"It is."

All the questions had been answered, and the Court was congratulating itself on having another juror, and the solicitor in solemn tones said:—"Juror look upon the prisoner—prisoner look upon the juror." The old man adjusted his spectacles, and peeringly gazed at the prisoner for full half a minute, when he turned his eyes toward the Court and earnestly said:

"Judge, I'll be condemned if I don't believe he's guilty!"

It is useless to add that the Court was considerably exasperated at having lost a juror, but the more humorously inclined had a good laugh at the old man's pure candour.—Edmonton (Ga.) South.

The Bishop of Saskatchewan will preach in St. Mary's Church on Sunday morning, June 24th.

Major Walsh has gone to Ottawa. We may expect to hear of some important revelations shortly.

The cows were out on the war path last week. They are just a little too soon on lifting out furniture.

Cora T. Brown has filled and is now burning a large kiln of lime stone. Lime is scarce and in good demand at present.

Arrangements have now been completed to finish at an early date the churches at the Ridge and near the Fork of the Road.

Mr. Loucks goes east next week. He will be accompanied by Mr. J. C. McKeane, who will return shortly with his wife and family.

Mr. George Mackay left town on Saturday for Troy. He took with him a number of carts for freight, and a few light rigs for passengers.

Knox & Barker are making quite an imposing looking edition of Pere Andre's dwelling house, having raised it to a two and a half story building.

Mr. R. B. Way has received the invoice of the band instruments, and expects the outfit to arrive shortly. We have signed papers for the big drum.

Notwithstanding the assertions of some of our wisecracks, the weekly mail arrived in good time Monday afternoon. John reports the trail to be in good condition.

Mr. John Wymerskirch left for Winnipeg on Saturday on business connected with his saloon. No doubt John will enjoy the good time on the trip we wish him.

His Lordship the Bishop of Saskatchewan will hold communion in St. Mary's church on Sunday, July 8th. Classes will be held Friday afternoon, at 4 o'clock for females and 5 o'clock for males.

We notice in the Edmonton Bulletin that Michel Cellier started down the river on the 1st June from Edmonton to Prince Albert with a raft of 24,000 feet of rough lumber from the H. B. Co.'s mills, and 4,000 feet of dressed lumber from the Edmonton mills.

A place of worship for members of the Church of England is to be erected at some site to be chosen somewhere in the centre of the town. A meeting in that connection will be held this evening in Mr. MacIn's office. All interested are invited to be present.

The election of a member to represent the electoral district of Lorne in the North West Council took place on the 26th May. There were three candidates in the field, Messrs. Lamont, MacIn and Oliver. The contest resulted in the election of Mr. Oliver, with a majority of sixty one, who was declared elected by the returning officer.

The Bishop of Saskatchewan preached last Sunday morning in St. Mary's church to a large and attentive congregation. Before commencing the sermon, His Lordship made a few remarks about his recent visit to England. He has been very successful in forwarding the objects of his visit. Funds were required to complete the endowment of the Bishopric and to endow Emmanuel College, and also to erect additional buildings for the College. The total sum required is about $60,000. Of this amount $25,000 has been promised by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, the Society for the Promoting of Christian Knowledge, and the Colonial Bishop's Council together, on condition that the balance is raised from other sources. Of this balance about $15,000 has been secured. The Bishop intends returning to England next winter to secure the remaining $20,000.

Business Cards printed on the shortest notice.

Goldsmiths Times are erecting a two story dwelling house on the corner for S. J. Donaldson. From here that Son intends going into double harness on his completion.

Steps are being taken to organize a joint stock company for the purpose of establishing and running a twice-weekly newspaper in Edmonton. Further progress, we think.

Messrs. Carter & Marshall have gone into the hardware business. They killed a five-horn on Monday, which they disposed of readily at good cash prices. They deserve encouragement.

The contract for the erection of the Presbyterian name is to be awarded to Knox & Barker. The cost of the contemplated building, when everything is completed, will be over $1,000.

Col. Sprout has completed the survey and layout of Mr. John Macdonald's property into town lots. The colonel and his party go to the South Branch for the purpose of surveying and laying out a town site at the railroad crossing.

The notorious Cashmer was run into the cooler Monday evening by Constable Montgomery. He was arrested for abusing a Creequaw known as Genevieve. Capt. Young, J.P., who issued the warrant for his arrest, sentenced him to two months' imprisonment, with hard labor.

It is about time the police would put a stop to the furious driving on our streets that is being indulged in by some of the reckless young men of the town. Our attention has been drawn to several close calls for an accident recently. The driving of some of our local jehus would compare favorably with that of a down east butcher boy.

Mr. William Miller has been elected an elder in the Presbyterian congregation. He will be ordained to the office of elder on Sabbath forenoon, July 1st, when Rev. J. Steieright will discourse on "What is Presbyterianism?" This is the first ordination of a Presbyterian elder in the Territory. Col. Sprout, who was ordained to the eldership in St. Paul's Church, Walkerton, Ont., has also been elected and consented to act.

The second competition for the J. O. Davis & Co. silver cup, which was shot for and won by Capt. Thomas Mackay last New Year's day, will take place on Dominion Day. So far, this is the only amusement provided for the celebration of our natal day. It would look much better and develop a better feeling in some of those people who are "chewing the rag and growing" over past events were they to expect themselves in bidding a few more prizes to the list, which can be accomplished easily enough. Let us have a shooting match.

A Coloured Clergy man Corralis a collection.

A colored preacher in North Carolina made an appeal, the other day, for a little money "for de stovepipe." The white people present contributed; the offerings were counted, and the preacher exclaimed, "Five dollars and forty cents a little more would ha' got a new hearth." "But a hearth ain't down collar!" shouted one of the congregation. The minister turned to the visitors and said, "White folks, don't you believe that nigger," adding as he tapped himself on the forehead, "Dare an' nobels' blain' in de top of his house."

ROYAL
BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE.

This Powder never sages. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the triple of low tests, short weight, inferior quality powders. Sold only in cases. S. Y.
